Thank you, JCF

Editor,

Thank you, John C. Fremont Hospital, for being there in the wee hours of the morning. My friend didn't feel quite right, so she drove herself to the ER (which is available 24/7). They assessed her and immediately put her in an ambulance to Fresno where she remained hospitalized for six days. Where would she have been without JCF?

Thank you, JCF, for being there when athletes need physicals to play sports at the high school.

Thank you, JCF, for being there when a high school athlete was injured at a football game and needed hospitalization.

Thank you, JCF, for being there when grandma needed services provided by the Ewing Wing. We had her close and we could visit frequently.

Thank you, in 2013, when there was a school bus accident and a triage tent was set up on the lawn to physically check each and every student before they were released to their parents.

Thank you, JCF, for donating supplies and equipment to the high school careers in medicine class and allowing students to observe first hand what goes into medical situations in a hospital setting. Just think, some of these high school students could come back here to work in the medical field because that fire was ignited in them during a high school class.

Thank you, JCF. We appreciate you and will show that appreciation by voting to support Measure O. This hospital provides so much for this community that can't be replicated.

Thank you.
